

Virginia Tech School of Education
Assistant Professor, Mathematics Education

The School of Education at Virginia Tech (www.soe.vt.edu) invites applications for a full time tenure-track assistant professor position in Mathematics Education, with the position beginning August 10, 2012.

Located in the beautiful Blue Ridge Mountains, Virginia Tech is the Commonwealth's largest residential land-grant university with over 30,000 students. The School of Education offers 22 graduate programs to more than 1,500 students. Committed to diversity, the School is organized to provide support for faculty and graduate students to pursue an aggressive plan for growth in research, and development. We invite you to join us as we build the future.

Responsibilities: Establish a productive research agenda and publish in scholarly journals, teach graduate level courses in elementary and secondary mathematics education, interact with and advise doctoral and master's students in mathematics education, and supervise secondary student teachers.

Required Qualifications: Earned doctorate in mathematics education or closely related field (will consider candidates who will obtain doctoral degree by time of appointment), undergraduate degree in mathematics (or equivalent), classroom-based teaching experience with K-12 students, and demonstrated research and publication potential.

Desired Qualifications: Preference will be given to those candidates that have graduate work in mathematics, experience working with preservice teachers, a research agenda focused on mathematics learning, demonstrated potential for interdisciplinary collaboration, and experience working in multicultural environments.

How to Apply: All applications must be submitted online at www.jobs.vt.edu; refer to posting #0111019. Please read the instructions carefully; once submitted, applications may be retracted, but not altered. Submit online your application, letter of application, curriculum vitae, research statement, teaching statement, undergraduate and graduate transcripts, and two samples of research or scholarly writing. Three letters of reference should be mailed to Dr. Susan G. Magliaro, ATTN: Mathematics Education Position, Virginia Tech School of Education, 226 War Memorial Hall (0313), Blacksburg, VA 24061. Direct any questions regarding the position to Dr. Jay Wilkins, Teaching and Learning, Virginia Tech, 300C War Memorial Hall (0313), Blacksburg, Virginia 24061; or email wilkins@vt.edu. Review of applications will begin on December 1, 2011 and will continue until the job is filled.
