

Assistant/Associate Professor, Math Teacher Education

Founded by the Congregation of Holy Cross in 1948, Stonehill is a private Catholic college located just 22 miles from downtown Boston on a beautiful 384-acre campus in Easton, Massachusetts. With a student-to-faculty ratio of 13:1, the College engages its 2,500+ students in 80+ rigorous academic programs in the liberal arts, sciences, and pre-professional fields.

Faithful to the Holy Cross tradition in education, Stonehill College is committed to developing the moral, spiritual, intellectual, physical, and social competencies of its students and seeks to build and sustain a campus community that embraces diversity and inclusion in its teaching, learning, living, and working. Stonehill values the diversity of persons, opinions, and cultural and religious perspectives. In fulfillment of its motto, Lux et Spes (“Light and Hope”), the College cultivates in its students the competence to think, act, and lead with courage toward creating a more just and compassionate world.

Equal Employment Opportunity shall be provided for all employees and applicants for employment based on their demonstrated ability and competence without discrimination based on race, color, religion, sex, national origin, age, veteran status, disability, and or ancestry. Stonehill College will adhere to the Federal Requirements of Title VII of the Civil Rights Act of 1964, the Civil Rights Act of 1991, the Age Discrimination in Employment Act of 1967, the Rehabilitation Act of 1973, the Americans with Disabilities Act of 1990, and its amendments, the Immigration Reform and Control Act of 1986, the Massachusetts Fair Employment Practice Law, and all other applicable State and Federal laws. The College is committed to providing a work environment that is free of discrimination. All employees and applicants will be treated fairly, equitably, and with courtesy. Stonehill College encourages diversity and welcomes individuals who will enrich the cultural and diverse experiences of the campus. Per Massachusetts law, employees of Stonehill College are considered employees-at-will.

The Division of Graduate and Professional Studies at Stonehill College invites applicants for a tenure-track Assistant Professor. This person would join the College’s full-time faculty with a wide range of disciplinary expertise and a commitment to fostering diversity among faculty and students. This is an on-campus position, and a qualified candidate must teach on the physical Stonehill College campus as well as online as we expand our online offerings.

Graduate Teacher Education at Stonehill College seeks an experienced, knowledgeable, and collaborative researcher to join our growing graduate teacher education department in the division of graduate and professional studies. The candidate will hold a faculty appointment and will have administrative, teaching, service, and scholarship responsibilities consistent with the mission of the department and the College.

The successful candidate will have a strong disciplinary background in the field of math teacher education. Teaching responsibilities include three courses per semester with the potential for research release time, departmental and division service, research and professional development, and opportunities for leadership as Coordinator of Math/Science teacher licensure programs.

Stonehill College Graduate Education aims to prepare knowledgeable, reflective, caring, and flexible educators who embrace learning, scholarship, community, and advocacy in their work. Anti-oppressive, anti-racist, democratic, and social justice education are at the center of our work and underpins all programs, courses, and experiences. We believe education can disrupt systems and processes that perpetuate injustice and inequity, and we embrace diversity and individuality as strengths.

We advance our mission by modeling the creation of democratic, anti-oppressive spaces in the graduate classroom that reflect equitable, accessible, and inclusive learning environments where students' voices and perspectives help to shape the construction and the provision of their learning.
