

COLLEGE OF EDUCATION
Department of Middle, Secondary, and Mathematics Education
Assistant or Associate Professor
Grades 6-12 Math Educator

The Department of Middle, Secondary and Mathematics Education at James Madison University invites applications for a tenure-track position beginning Fall 2018.

Qualifications: The successful applicant will have an earned doctorate in mathematics education. Degree should be conferred by August, 2018. In addition, the applicant should possess at least three years of American public-school teaching or comparable experience at the middle or high school level, and familiarity with instructional technology. Priority will be given to candidates with experience teaching middle or high school mathematics, conducting mathematics-related research, and focusing on diversity, equity, and social justice issues in teaching, scholarship, and/or service. Applicants should provide evidence of teaching effectiveness, scholarship potential, and the ability to work collaboratively in partnership with colleagues in the College of Education and in the JMU mathematics department, as well as those in public schools. Experience supporting candidates' development of the Teacher Work Sample or similar capstone project is also preferred.

Duties: Expertise is needed to teach and advise undergraduate and Master's level students for initial teacher licensure programs. The successful candidate will teach pre-service teacher education candidates in courses related to middle and high school mathematics, educational research methods, the Teacher Work Sample, or other related areas. Supervision of practicum students and student teachers is expected. Successful candidates will engage in professional service and appropriate scholarship activities.

Salary is competitive and commensurate with experience and qualifications. All applicants interested in this position must apply online at joblink.jmu.edu. The electronic application should include a cover letter explaining the candidate's suitability for the position, curriculum vitae, and the names, addresses, phone numbers and e-mails of three professional references. Unofficial undergraduate and graduate transcripts should be mailed separately to Dr. Kristina J. Doubet, search chair, at James Madison University, College of Education, MSC 6912, Harrisonburg, VA 22807 or sent electronically. Review of candidates begins 10/15/2017 and will continue until the position is filled. For questions about the position, contact Dr. Doubet at doubetkj@jmu.edu.

About the University - James Madison University is a comprehensive co-educational institution of higher learning in the Shenandoah Valley of Virginia. Founded in 1908 as a state school for women, JMU has grown to a current student body of over 20,000. The university is committed to innovative and superlative teaching and scholarship. JMU has achieved national recognition for the quality of its academic programs. Teacher education has been a primary focus of the institution since its inception. The College of Education offers bachelors and masters degrees and is the leading institution for teacher preparation in Virginia.

James Madison is an equal opportunity/affirmative action/equal access employer and especially encourages applications from women, minorities and persons with disabilities.

About the Area - JMU is located in Harrisonburg, a city of approximately 50,000 in the heart of the Shenandoah Valley of Virginia. It is a two-hour drive from Richmond and Washington, DC and one hour from Charlottesville. The area affords many opportunities for outdoor recreation, with the George Washington National Forest and Shenandoah National Park located nearby and the Blue Ridge and Allegheny Mountains to the east and west of the city, respectively.